Qdos highlights modern, innovative baby proofing products that take home safety to a new level

KENNESAW, GEORGIA – March 31, 2020 –Did you know there are no US or Canadian safety standards for baby proofing products other than baby gates? A parent could purchase a corner protector to shield their little one's head from bumps and bruises, but if the baby bites it (which all babies do!), it wouldn't pass a bite test that's required for toys and other baby products! Not with Qdos products! Replacing one safety hazard with another is simply not logical.

While there may be no federal safety standards for home safety products in North America, Qdos actively participates in the standard development process with ASTM International, a globally recognized leader in the development and delivery of international voluntary consensus standards. We ensure all of our products meet and exceed all ASTM Standards, as well as the strict European Standards for home safety products.

Not only are Qdos products made with a higher standard of safety, they're also made to complement home decor. Baby proofing doesn't have to be ugly!™ The children's home safety market has seen very little innovation for decades. As parents, we got frustrated with products that didn't perform. We knew there was a better way. At Qdos, we are committed to helping parents and caregivers keep children safe from the dangers that lurk in a home, without compromising their design aesthetic.

From our Crystal Designer Baby Gate with clear, see through acrylic, to our StayPut™ Outlet Plugs that blend in and actually work, to our award-winning Zero-Screw Furniture Anti-Tip Kit, Qdos promises to be the leader in the home safety field by providing the best safety solutions, which also happen to look nice. Every day we are looking for new and better ways to make homes safer for children.

About Qdos

Qdos is a new line of modern and innovative baby proofing products designed to be easy to use and made to complement home décor, not take away from it. Qdos products are engineered with high-performance materials instead of the typical commodity-type plastics found in most baby proofing and home safety products. We create innovative, patented solutions that are designed for easy, frustration-free installation to make sure they are installed quickly and safely – the first time.
